Mr James Armstrong

Dear Sir

At your request I run levels five miles up Conners Creek. Commencing at the Est of the Fitzgerals Shoals dec 19 1878 I find in the five miles a fall of 35 feet The first 800 feet has a fall of 1 foot 7 inches The next 1800 feet has a fall of 1 foot, but by meaning a strait course I find the distance to be only 600 feet - it being the distance as road measured & profiled, the general direction of the creek in this land is in the shape of a fish hook with abrupt angles & bends, Tracing thru' these the distance in its present channel that it would go if it take through, from the extreme points in this land is a diversion caused probably by the water cutting through in heavy freshets The materials seems to be a fine sand mixed with fine particles of mica,

In the next 1600 feet is a fall of 2 feet ~~one~~ in that 1600 feet the Creek is comparatively Strait but has some short curves, The next 1000 ft is a fall of 1.2 foot ~~2 inches~~ in the next 1500 feet it runs a fall of 2 feet 2 inches from the Fitzgerald shoal to the mouth of Fullers creek a distance of 2 miles. The rivr of the creek is obstructed with trees, logs, brush etc in rafts - in some places the rafts reach from bank to bank and the channel of the creek is very crooked, some bends being at an angle of near 45 deg - in this place the creek has been ditched in some of the ditches are obstructed the most of the ditches are not wide enough, from the mouth of Fullers creek to the 22 mile post a distance of 7 miles, the creek runs comparatively straight through a ditch from the mouth of Fullers creek to the 22 mile post a distance of 5 miles, from starting point. There is very little bottom land - the hills shutting in on both sides & when there is bottom land the banks are deep
